
LVR Fall Conference

*Every year Literacy Volunteers
of Rochester presents two conferences for volunteers and learners..*

*Please join us for the fall conference. We have planned a little something for everyone
as we learn new things, enjoy
lunch, and share information with each other. Come with the tutor or learner you work with or come on your own. Remember, it's free!*

Non-Profit Org.
PAID
Permit No. 202
Rochester, NY

Literacy Volunteers of Rochester, Inc.
249 Highland Ave.
Rochester, NY 14620

Conference

Saturday, October 20, 2007

8:00 A.M - 1:00 P.M.

Literacy Volunteers of Rochester,
249 Highland Avenue. Rochester, NY 14620

585-473-3030

www.literacyrochester.org

Helping Adults Learn to Read and Speak English

Saturday, October 20
8:00 AM-1:00 PM

Get Smart About Credit

Arnishia Jordan from Canandaigua National Bank and Trust Company will present “Get Smart About Credit” a website based learning program that is highly interactive and engaging for people of all ages, to increase their financial knowledge. Audience: Everyone

Assessment, Portfolios and Learning

Sister Edwardine Weaver, Co-director of the Mercy Bridges Literacy Program, will share information on using portfolios as an assessment tool, as a guide to making informal instructional decisions, and as a means of providing feedback to learners. Audience: Tutors

Lesson Planning

Sharon Hicks, retired Foreign Language teacher and LVR tutor, will share ideas on how to plan lessons that cover the four aspects of language learning– hearing, speaking, reading and writing. Audience: ESOL Tutors

My Reading Coach for Tutors

LVR Program Coordinator, Jennifer Eaton, will introduce tutors to “My Reading Coach” a computer program that teaches reading through interactive phonics instruction. Audience: Tutors

My Reading Coach for Learners

Janine Simon, ESOL Tutor and Intern from SUNY Brockport, will introduce learners to “My Reading Coach” a computer based reading program. Audience: Learners

Games

LVR trainer and tutor, Michelle Bruzee, will share various games that can be: borrowed from the LVR library, found on the web or made with simple materials you may own or easily find. This will be a hands-on session that will look at how to create games for vocabulary and grammar. Audience: Tutors

Active Learning Techniques

Melissa Woodhams, Student Services Coordinator at LVR, will share information and techniques that will help you to create learning activities that will actively involve your learner. Audience: Tutors

Citizenship

Cathy Yorio is an ABE and ESOL Instructor with the Family Learning Center; one topic she teaches is Citizenship. Cathy will share with us the expected changes that will take place in the Citizenship test. Her classes have been piloting the new test so she has first hand information to share with us. Audience: Everyone

Fall Conference

Registration and Breakfast	8:00-8:30
Keynote “Get Smart About Credit”	8:30-9:00

Choose one session for each time

<input type="checkbox"/> Open Forum– Speak with Arnishia and explore “Get Smart About Credit”	9:10-10:10
<input type="checkbox"/> Games	9:10-10:10
<input type="checkbox"/> Active Learning Techniques	9:10-10:10
<input type="checkbox"/> Citizenship	10:20-11:20
<input type="checkbox"/> Lesson Planning	10:20-11:20
<input type="checkbox"/> My Reading Coach– Tutors	10:20-11:20
<input type="checkbox"/> My Reading Coach-Learners	11:30-12:30
<input type="checkbox"/> Assessment, Portfolios & Learning	11:30-12:30
<input type="checkbox"/> Lunch	12:30

Name

Address

Phone

E-mail address

Literacy Volunteers of Rochester, Inc.
249 Highland Avenue

Phone: 585-473-3030

Fax: 585-473-7478

E-mail: jeaton@literacyrochester.org
RSVP by October 12, 2007

This Conference is free to all registered LVR tutors and learners. Others who are interested may attend for a $10.00 fee (breakfast & lunch included).